

Native American
Foundation Funding Opportunities for Energy Efficiency, Renewable Energy
and the Environment

Compiled by the U.S. Department of Energy
Seattle Regional Office from FC Search®
Version 6.0
Fall 2003

The following list of foundation funding opportunities was compiled by the Seattle Regional Office, U.S. Department of Energy, from The Foundation Center's Database on CD-ROM FC Search® Version 6.0. FC Search® contains funding information on over 65,000 foundations and corporate giving programs. For more information on these funding opportunities, and the FC Search® database, go to: <http://www.fdncenter.org/>.

There are thousands of organizations accepting proposals for clean energy and environmental projects; this list does not suggest that "the search stops here." Rather, our intent was to present a list of foundations that meet the following 4 criteria: 1) Each organization identifies Native Americans as a specific field of interest; 2) The stated purpose and activities of these organizations align with potential clean energy and/or environmental projects; 3) Each organization funds projects nationwide or to specific states within the Seattle Region (AK, AZ, CA, HI, ID, NV, OR, and WA); 4) Each organization accepts proposals. We hope this snapshot of funding opportunities is useful.

URL: <http://www.lannan.org/>

Purpose and Activities: Grant programs support the visual and literary arts and rural Native American communities. The visual arts program authorizes grants for varied programs and activities in contemporary art, exhibition and interpretation of the Lannan Foundation collection, and fostering serious scholarship and criticism in contemporary art. The literary arts program fosters the creation of prose and poetry through grants and projects designed to recognize excellence in English language literature, and to widen the audience for serious literature. The Indigenous Communities Program supports the resolve of Native Americans to renew their communities through their own institutions and traditions. Funding priority will be given to indigenous projects for education, the revival and preservation of languages and cultures, legal rights, environmental protection and economic development. The foundation makes a limited number of grants to miscellaneous charitable causes.

Contact: Robin E. Carton, Dir., Grant Prog. and Fin.

E-mail: resistinc@igc.org

URL: <http://www.resistinc.org>

Purpose and Activities: RESIST supports organizations that tend to fall outside of mainstream funding sources because their political perspective is considered to be too "radical." Grants and loans of up to $2,000 per year are awarded to small groups with budgets under $100,000. While RESIST prefers to fund a specific campaign or project, grants may be given for general support. RESIST is also committed to supporting projects that enable all people to participate in the movement for social justice. As such, RESIST will fund the additional costs of projects or events which will make them accessible to people with disabilities (e.g., signers for events, or wheelchair-accessible venues) for amounts up to $2,000. RESIST also provides three-year general support grants to organizations that have been funded at least two times during the preceding five years.
